Planners Disagree On Need For A Fall Town Meeting

By Susan Rand

The Board of Selectmen may think the Planning Board needs a Special Town Meeting in the fall but the planners don't happen to agree.

Planning Board members discussed the extra town meeting, tentatively set by the selectmen for Monday, Nov. 19, at their Tuesday evening meeting and decided the research, planning and public hearings they would have to hold to get ready for that meeting would take them away from the schedule they are on now which is targeted for next spring's regular Town Meeting. Board Chairman Margaret M. Bradshaw will relay that message to the selectmen at their next meeting on Monday, Aug. 13.

The selectmen set the tentative meeting last week at their Monday, July 16, meeting, after it was suggested by Selectman William Dalton.

Selectman Norma Gammon explained to the planners on Tuesday night that although she objected to another Town Meeting the selectmen thought it would help the Planning Board.

"This might help you clear your blotter of small problems," Gammon said. "There was total frustration over last year's Town Meeting when the developers that came in were rushed on the last night. The selectmen got a lot of stir from people about that." Gammon added that April's Town Meeting should have run into a third evening instead of the two nights it was spread over. But, she said, it was the decision of Town Moderator James D. Doherty not to continue the meeting to a third night.

Gammon suggested the planners attend the next selectmen's meeting to discuss the extra town meeting. Bradshaw agreed to attend the meeting, saying the board had set up a schedule to make them ready for the regular spring Town Meeting.

By readying for a fall meeting Bradshaw said the planners would be "putting the cart before the horse," adding that the board wanted instead to be ready for the April meeting.

"This is the first year we have all been on the board long enough to really sit down and do some things about housing and parking," Bradshaw said. "Right now we are re-writing our subdivision rules and regulations." She insisted the planners were on a schedule for the April meeting adding that it was hard for those not involved with the planning work to appreciate the time it takes to have a statement ready for Town Meeting.

Marc N. Keroack

Appointed Director

Marc N. Keroack of Melrose has recently been appointed high school band director for Andover High School.

After completing a B.S. degree in Music Education and an M.A. degree in Music History from the University of New Hampshire, Keroack began his teaching career in the Manchester, N.H. public schools. However, for the past 12 years he has served as the director of instrumental music (bandmaster) for the city of Somerville where his duties included the direction of marching, concert and jazz bands, the instruction small ensembles, theory classes and private lessons and the supervision of the elementary and junior high school instrumental programs. During Keroack's tenure in Somerville, his performance groups won many notable awards, the most recent of which include the 1983 Quincy Christmas Parade (third place Class C), Orlando, Florida Festival of Music (second place Jazz Band, first place Jazz Combo, third place Colorguard, third place Field Unit) and Massachusetts All-State Jazz Combo Competition (third place Jazz Combo).

In addition to his teaching duties, Keroack has long been active in the Massachusetts Music Educators Association. A past All-State band manager, for the next school year he will act as band manager for the Northeast Senior District.

As one of approximately 20 professionals qualified to judge drum and bugle corps in the brass caption of Drum Corps International (DCI) competitions, Keroack has spent part of this summer traveling the United States and judging at national competitions in the northeast, south and midwest.

The Andover High School Color Guard is recruiting members for the 1984-85 school year. Starting in August, the band, under the auspices of new director Marc N. Keroack, will include a new staff of such experienced personnel as Debbie Barrett (color guard), Jay McMahon (drill design) and Brian O'Malley (marching).

The only prerequisite for membership is attendance at the annual summer marching band camp N.H., August 22-26. For contact Mrs. Barbara held at Camp Nokomis, further information Snow or Mrs. Carol Gal Lake Winnepausaukee, about the color guard, ble.

Planners Re-elect Officers

There is no change in the slate of Planning Board officers all of whom were re-elected for another year to their positions at the Tuesday evening meeting at Town Hall.

Margaret M. Bradshaw, who was chairman of the group last year, was re-elected and praised by members Andrew M. Girdwood Jr., who was re-elected vice-chairman of the group, George S. Moran, who was voted secretary, and Michael Houghton. Board member Paul R. Curley was absent from the meeting.

Program Development On Agenda

Program development proposals will be on the agenda for the next meeting of the Andover School Committee, set for Tuesday, August 7, at 7:30 p.m., in the committee meeting room, second floor of the Town Hall, from the Whittier Street entrance to the building.

Zoning Board To Get Brief Vacation

After two months of marathon sessions the Zoning Board of Appeals will have a much deserved summer vacation.

The board hasn't scheduled a meeting for August. Their next session is set for Thursday, September 6, at 7:30 p.m. But there haven't been any requests for public hearings for the September session yet. To make the September agenda all notices must be turned in to the board office, in Town Hall, by Tuesday, July 31.

Clown Town Unanimously Approved

The Andover Society is getting a start on plans for their annual Clown Town festival. Last week the Board of Selectmen unanimously approved use of Central Park and waived the fee for the May 18, 1985 event.

Day Care Registration Tonight

Tonight sign-ups for Andover's extended day care program for students entering the Shawsheen School Early Childhood Center's kindergarten and readiness classes are set for the Senior Citizen's Center, Whittier Street, at 7 p.m.

The program, which is sponsored by the Department of Community Services, will run from 7:15 a.m. to 5:45 p.m., on school days, at the Shawsheen School. Costs for the service will be available at the sign-up session.

ACT To Present 'Fiddler'

The Andover Community Theatre will present the phenomenally popular show "Fiddler on the Roof."

This large-scale Broadway musical is based on the Jewish stories of Sholom Aleichem. It is set in the Russian village, Anatevka, in 1905. The play chronicles the breakdown of the village community and the traditional Jewish ways of the villagers. If this all sounds a bit heavy, be assured that "Fiddler" is also a celebration of the strength, dignity and humor of a people determined to survive. The show is filled with buoyant, fast-paced production numbers, brilliant flashes of wit and warmth, touching moments of sentiment and emotion and a wonderful score.

The play will be presented on August 3, 4, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. and August 5 at 3 p.m. Advanced tickets can be purchased from Butler's Pantry, Andover, or any cast member. Tickets will be available at the door.

Pinocchio, Friends At Rec Park

The Department of Community Services will sponsor Pinocchio, a puppet show, at Recreation Park Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 11 a.m. A small admission fee will be charged. In the event of rain the performance will be held at South School.

Puppets Unlimited will present "Pinocchio," adapted from Carlo Collodi's famous book. The story is faithfully recreated with large hand-and-rod puppets, life-size human characters in masks, a variety of colorful and changing scenes, lighting effects and a classical music accompaniment. One of the best known children's stories of all time, "Pinocchio" is the story of the mischievous little puppet who longs to be a real boy. This version follows the misadventures of Pinocchio as he is carved out of an enchanted piece of wood by Gepetto, instructed on how to be a good boy by the talking cricket, befriended by a group of puppets, robbed and cheated by the evil fox and cat, helped by the kindly Blue Fairy, and through a host of other adventures until he finally becomes a real little boy. Of course, whenever he tells a lie, his nose becomes incredibly long.

Puppets Unlimited is comprised of puppeteers, Robert Rogers of New York and Gregg Glaser of Connecticut. They wrote the script, built the puppets, created the scenery and constructed a 12-foot high set for this production.

Puppets Unlimited has performed for thousands of people from Virginia to Vermont. They have received recognition from the Puppeteers of America, the New England Foundation for the Arts and the Connecticut Commission on the Arts and have produced several features for young people on television.

Pinocchio has been funded in part by the Massachusetts State Arts Lottery Council.

Summer Series Continues

Samuel Carabetta will perform on the Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ on Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 8:30 p.m.

Carabetta is organist and choirmaster at Christ Church of Hamilton and Wenham. He received his Bachelor of Music degree from the Boston Conservatory of Music and his Master of Sacred Music Degree from Southern Methodist University. He has studied organ with Bernard Lagace, Phillip Steinhaus, Robert Anderson and Gerre Hancock. He has recently given recitals at St. Thomas' Church, New York City, St. John's Church, Washington, D.C., Trinity Church, Boston, and for the Dallas Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

For his recital, Carabetta has chosen: Batalla Imperial by Juan Bautista Jose Cabanilles; Prelude and Fugue in G Major by Bach; Sonata No. 7 in F Minor by Josef Gabriel Rheinberger; Four Noels by Jean-Francois Dandrieu; Paysages Euskariens by Ermand Bonnal; Premiere Symphonie by Jean Langlais.

The property on the north bank of the Spicket River adjacent to the Music Hall has been a location associated with organs for many years. Early in the 19th century, a wooden building was erected on the site and used as a cotton mill. The late Edward F. Searles purchased the building around 1890 and remodeled it to house the Methuen Organ Company. Organs of exceptional materials and workmanship were manufactured there under the sponsorship of Searles and the direction of James E. Treat.

The organ originally built for the Boston Music Hall was purchased by Searles in 1897. It had been in storage since 1884, when the instrument had been removed from the Boston Music Hall to provide additional state space for the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The organ was brought to Methuen and stored in a brick barn which still exists in the rear of the Music Hall property. The instrument was rebuilt and later transferred to the present brick hall which Searles had especially constructed. Following his death in 1920, the wooden building on the property remained idle until title was acquired by the organ builder Ernest M. Skinner. Once again the building became the scene of the construction of pipe organs. The organ factory building was destroyed by fire on June 16, 1943. Fortunately, the brick hall and organ were not damaged.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28), Methuen, just south of the square.

Cyclists Due At Olympics

By Susan Rand

Watch your televisions closely for the Sunday, Aug. 5, parade through the streets of Los Angeles for two Andover men who set out for the west coast two months ago as part of a university-sponsored fundraiser to combat hunger.

Aaron Gershenberg and Bob Meier left on their bicycles for the Olympic city at the beginning of June with 65 other cyclists with hopes of raising $1 million for Oxfam America, a Boston-based agency which funds self-help relief projects in poor countries. To date they have raised $170,000.

Organizers in Los Angeles expect the group to arrive there next Sunday, Aug. 5. They will hold a press conference at City Hall, in Los Angeles, on Monday, Aug. 7. Kim Sanchez, who is heading up the effort, called Ride For Life, in Los Angeles said she was trying to get the national television stations interested in filming the bikers when they arrive, 4,200 miles from home.

The group is composed mainly of students from Wesleyan University, where Gershenberg graduated from this spring, and Harvard University. Meier will be a senior at Northeastern University this fall.

In a letter to THE TOWNSMAN the Andover pair talked about their trip. They said their more difficult riding included the hills of West Virginia, at the end of June; the heat and winds of the Kansas plains, which they traversed in early July; and cycling across the Continental Divide, in the Rocky Mountains.

"What continues to impress us are the people we meet," wrote Meier and Gershenberg, "(We) often come into town at 7 or 8 p.m., and the Riders For Life are given a tremendous welcome. As you can imagine we draw a lot of attention to ourselves."

In addition to biking, sometimes 100 or more miles a day, the bikers talk to community groups almost every evening about their project, constantly looking for funds for Oxfam. Tonight they will be in Reno, Nevada.

Gershenberg wrote to his family of visiting friends in North Indianapolis, Indiana, and spending an evening in Smith Center, Kansas, which he wrote was the geographical center of America. He also explained the difficulty of riding in 105 degree heat with a 20 mph head wind pushing him back.

At that point riding what Gershenberg called "only 60 miles" a day was torture, the thought of swimming in a reservoir that evening his only salvation. Unfortunately for the riders there was no reservoir at the end of that day in Norton, Colorado.

The ride picked up as Bob and Aaron headed out of Steamboat Springs, Colorado, on July 15. They took off at the front of the pack and bicycled 200 miles that day, staying with friends in Colorado that evening where they watched the stars from mountain tops and saw the lights of Denver only 35 miles away. All the while raising money for Oxfam, Aaron admitted he was learning how to talk to the natives in the midwest.

"I have gained a reputation for being able to get a discount on anything and always preparing a good meal," he joked.

To pledge money in Meyer or Gershenberg's names write to Aaron Gershenberg and Bob Meier, c/o Ride for Life, Box 582, Cambridge, MA, 02238. Those pledging will be billed after the riders arrive in Los Angeles.

Math Program Passes Test

By Susan Rand

The end-of-the-year test scores are all tallied and it looks like the first year of Andover's new public elementary school mathematics program has made the grade.

After this first year with a new system for students in grades one through six the youngsters are consistently testing at high levels on both national and locally prepared examinations. The change in math systems involved a major change in the way the subject was taught and learned, necessitating a change for both teachers and their students.

A cut in the number of teacher aides at the elementary level and a corporate buyout of Individualized Mathematics Systems (IMS), the program used for the last 12 years, forced the School Committee to adopt another system, the Houghton Mifflin Math Program which was used for the first time this past September. Had those two factors not been brought to bear on the schools the program probably would not have been changed, said Lois T. Haslam, assistant superintendent for elementary education.

For over a decade students worked individually on their IMS math. They worked alone and completed work sheets and tests as they moved from skill to skill in the IMS program. The youngsters liked being able to test their knowledge as they worked on their individual exams, said Haslam.

The Houghton Mifflin program uses textbooks while a teacher works with small groups. There are three different levels of mathematics instruction taught in each class. The entire program is based on eight learning levels. Topics covered in the Houghton Mifflin package are number concepts, number facts, basic operations, money and time, estimation and measurement, fraction concepts and operations, decimal concepts and operations, percents, statistics, ratio and probability, problem solving and calculator and computer use.

This May an exam was devised by former mathematics Program Advisor James Murphy and math specialists in the school department which measured how well the elementary students learned what they had been taught throughout the year. The scores showed youngsters in grades one and two scored the highest, not a surprise, explained Haslam, because the young children hadn't been exposed to IMS as had those in the upper grades. But the students in grades three, four, five and six, still performed at the upper levels of the grading continuum, said the assistant superintendent, showing that they had adapted well to the first year of the new program.

The tests also showed that areas not emphasized in IMS, such as estimation and problem solving, needed work as scores were lower in those specific exam sections.

Third and sixth graders were also tested for their mathematics knowledge on the annual national standardized exams. Again, the youngsters placed in the 95% percentile nationally, scoring as Andover children have in the last few years, at the top of all those tested.

Because they were tested on both a national level and on a locally-prepared exam, Haslam said it is fair to conclude that both the teachers and students responded "extremely well" to the first year of the new program.

The end-of-the-year test results will be interpreted for members of the School Committee sometime this summer, she said. And testing once or twice a year to learn how students continue to learn with the Houghton Mifflin program will probably take place Haslam said.

Is Tenant

Also a tenant in the Musgrove building, which was featured in an article on Thursday, July 12, is the William Gattenby Lmtd., a hand-crafted furniture store which moved to Andover two months ago. The building, located on Main Street in Elm Square, is being sold by owner Robert E. Webster to an undisclosed investment group.

Canning Classes Scheduled

The Department of Community Services, in conjunction with the Community Canning Center at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, will sponsor "Preserving Your Garden Harvest" on Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 13, from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

At least 85 percent of the food consumed in Massachusetts is shipped in from out of state. The shipping costs and middleman profits result in higher consumer prices. The Community Canning Center allows the user to combat these higher prices by using Massachusetts grown food, safely preserved at lower costs to the consumer. The Community Canning Center opened in 1980, and during its first year in operation produced more than 5,325 quarts, pints and half pints of preserved foods, brought in by 633 people from 38 communities.

The main goals of the canning center are to promote safe canning procedures and stimulate agriculture in Massachusetts through the preservation of locally grown fruits and vegetables and to inform the community about their services through area outreach programs. Their trained staff will explain use of the equipment and provide guidance. The center will hold and test samples of each batch preserved to insure safety of each product for consumption. Students in the Preserving Your Garden Harvest class will be asked to bring fresh fruits and vegetables, ripe, but not overripe, spices or sweeteners they want to add to their preserved foods and canning jars and lids. Participants are required to wear shoes, long pants and a shirt or blouse.

To register, contact the Department of Community Services office in the Town Offices on Bartlet Street Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Concert Features Jazz Ensemble

The Department of Community Services' summer concert series will feature the contemporary jazz quartet RIBS on Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 6:30 p.m. behind Doherty Junior High School. Raindate is August 29. Admission is free.

RIBS is comprised of four seasoned musicians: Mark Harvey, trumpet; Brad Jones, saxes; Jerry Edwards, bass; and Harry Wellott, drums.

Their music is a unique blend of many aspects of the jazz tradition which continues to explore and build on creative contributions of the past 20 years. While acknowledging debts to Ornette Coleman, Don Cherry and John Coltrane, the music of RIBS also reflects the influence of Charles Mingus, Thelonius Monk and Dizzy Gillespie. Working largely from a collective improvisational approach, RIBS weaves these myriad elements into its own personal style, an intensely rhythmic and melodic modern jazz sound attuned to the subtleties of compositional form. In addition, an awareness of and appreciation for the deeper roots of the jazz tradition enables RIBS to draw on west African music, the blues and hymns, marches and popular tunes of traditional New Orleans music for recasting in a new artistic expression. RIBS plays jazz, old and new, always in the tradition of creative, spontaneous and deeply-felt music-making.

The performance of RIBS has been funded in part by the First Essex Savings Bank and Borden Chemical Co.

Cinderella Auditions Scheduled

The North Reading Theatre Workshop will hold auditions for its late fall production of "Cinderella" on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 6 and 7, at the Martin's Pond Union Baptist Church, Main Street, North Reading, at 7 p.m.

"Cinderella," Rodgers and Hammerstein's television musical, has recently been adapted to the stage but has retained all of its lovely original score, including "Ten Minutes Ago," "Do I Love You Because You're Beautiful" and the riotous "Stepsister's Lament."

The show calls for an adult cast of a large chorus and 9 to 10 major speaking roles, including Cinderella, the Fairy Godmother, the Step-mother and two sisters, the King and Queen and Prince Charming. This is an ideal opportunity to become involved on-stage.

It is preferred that a piece of music from the show be used for auditioning, but it is permissible to use any music, providing the sheet music is brought for the pianist. Be prepared to participate in some movement exercises.

For further information on the show, audition or the N.R.T.W., contact the Greenes, 24 Haverhill St., North Reading.

Tucker Attending Conference

Representative Sue Tucker is attending the National Conference of State Legislators this week in Boston. More than 2,000 legislators from each state are gathering in Massachusetts to share expertise and strategies on policy issues ranging from economic development to cost containment in human services.

According to Tucker, the National Conference of State Legislators is a tremendous resource. "We use the NCSL just like the cities and towns use the Mass. Municipal Association, to solve common problems and find out what works and what fails without reinventing the wheel," she said.

Tucker is attending seminars in three areas which are important to her legislative work: education, fiscal affairs and legislative oversight and low-level radioactive waste disposal.

The education seminar will analyze reforms recently enacted in several states in response to the national report, "A Nation At Risk." Fiscal affairs will focus on an issue which is, according to Tucker, "a subject of debate in Massachusetts today," how various tax mixes affect economic development. Tucker said that the tax debate in Massachusetts is rather unique among states because it is centered on the best way to cut, not raise, taxes. "While 33 states have enacted tax increases in the last two years, our healthy economy has put us in the enviable position of discussing tax cuts," Tucker stated.

Tiny Tot And Preschool

This week the Tiny Totters had a hat parade. All the hats were tremendous, specially Jennifer Valentine with a Goofey Hat all the way from Disney World. Ron Horovitz led the parade, followed by Lesley Babek, Ashley Bamford, Karen Burke, Sara Callanen, Ellen Casper and Hamilton Clower. The percussion section was made up of Deanna Corey, Dianne Holloway, Michael Jones, Paula Katz, Elizabeth Kelley, Allison Lynch, Danny Michelinie, Adam Spiller, Kalley Thomas and Michael Thomas. Mark Zammuto played the drums with great enthusiasm. On Wednesday Charlotte Chanler, Rosaria DeMember, Jared Greer and Douglas Hsu created ballroom people. Matthew Klotz, Kirk Larsen, Brian Lewis, Robyn McNab and Lindsey Pearson enjoyed homemade play dough. Teddy Bear Day was Tuesday and everyone made cute little Teddy's and listened to teddy bear stories and songs. Gregory Rosenheck, Jonathan Rubinfeld, Andrew Ruben, Miles Sedgwick, Joshua Shulman, Jackie Tommasino and Kelley Walsh made a tasty fruit salad.

At Preschool, Jimmy Anderson, Stephen Byers, Matthew Clark, Jeffrey Cutler, Raj Dandage and J.J. Frederick participated in sail boat races. Out on the field Robin Detterman, Adam Jasne, Emily Jonas, Melanie Katz, Michael Kaufman and Sarah Kilitz blew great big beautiful bubbles and everybody chased them. Rebecca MacDougall, Jason Knowlton, Nicholas Guild, David Holmes, Diana Marino, Michael Martin and Andrew McDonald made lovely jewelry from paper clips. They're sure to be the newest rage in fashion. Austin Lewis, Marty Lastrina, David McDonald, Joshua Murphy, Matthew Redmond, Alex Tommasino and Tim-o Williamson made up the Bancroft Bombers soccer team. Randy Romano, Joshua Prudden, Daniel Peikin, Ethan Murphy and Brent Desmarais helped fly the kite. Kite flying was the biggest hit of the week. Sara Reef and Michael Orlandella helped with the flying too.

On Friday a cookout and beach party celebrated the halfway mark for the summer. We have to say goodbye to some of the friends we made this summer, but look forward to meeting new ones on Monday.

All Day

Week number four at the All Day playground was a great one. Monday the kids enjoyed a number of activities, including prison dodgeball and wheel of fortune. Jon Deloge, Mike Ardito, Tommy Christopher, Justin Rosenblatt and Matt Tomkinson are particularly skilled prison dodgeball players while Jared Greenberg is the wheel of fortune all-star. Tuesday began with soap carving. Some fantastic sculptors were Jonah Corneau, Adam Lafond, Aaron Lafond, Brenda Brightman and Courtney Cunningham. Although the pool remains closed, the kids managed to cool off at the sprinkler party. Evan Duff, Wendy Duff, Tasha Roberts, Cara Endyke and Erica Endyke had an especially good time. Wednesday, despite the bad weather, the kids journeyed to South School for the annual Peaut Carnival. Game and food booths from all the playgrounds kept everyone busy and happy. Jen and Stephanie Buck, Kelly Ferguson, Evan Ferguson, Joel Katz and Janet Ardito had a great time. Back at the playground Mike Shaughnessy, Jay Shaughnessy and Kevin Weiner kept busy playing gym games and "I'm Going on a Safari." Thursday Maureen Mullen, Christine Mullen, Mike Ardito, Jared Greenberg and Tommy Christopher did a lot of running playing partner tag. Relay races were also part of the day's activities, with Ted's famous logrolling relay highlighting the games. Quiet time was spent working on sponge creatures. Cara Endyke, Courtney Cunningham, Evan Ferguson, Mike Shaughnessy, Matt Tomkinson, Justin Rosenblatt, Jonah Corneau and Jon Deloge made some great ones.

Ballardvale

The past week at Ballardvale was highlighted by the annual Peanut Carnival. The carnival was scheduled to be at Ballardvale, but due to bad weather was moved to South School where it worked out well. To raise money for the playground, Ballardvale sold ice cream which made big money for the summer party. All the kids, especially Reggie Hayes and Matt Davis, helped with the carnival.

Bancroft

Yet another fun-filled week at the homestead. Monday, Maura and Erin Collins, Katie Hansberry and Meghan and Kara O'Handley helped Sharon and Jen make a birthday calendar. Tuesday everyone's birthdays were celebrated by decorating cupcakes. The frosting was made by Matt Trede, Alison Bicknell, Beth Lee and Brandon. Wednesday, Peanut Carnival was moved to South playground due to inclement weather. Jim and Brad McCue, Shariyan and Sheram Sherkat and the Smiths all enjoyed themselves while Billy ran the "Knock 'em Down Toss" and Jenn and Sharon painted over 50 faces. Thursday everyone journeyed to Doherty playground for a competitive game of soccer and then to King's Subs for lunch.

Doherty

Everyone thought all playgrounds were the same until Doherty changed the game. Monday everyone had an ice cream urge so it was Brig-hams. On Tuesday Mickey Dee's was where it was at, we called in and brought it back. Wednesday was no ordinary day for it was the Peanut Carnival. Even though the rain did come, all the kids still had some fun. On Thursday Bancroft came to prove they're tough, but Doherty hung in and showed their stuff. Friday rounded out the week with Pomp's Pond for a treat.

Sanborn

This week Sanborn had the Olympics as their theme for all activities. Brad Cronin, Jamie Dolan and Chris Gray showed they were Sanborn's overall athletes while Elizabeth Peterson and Brian Firicano shined as the two who showed the most effort. Not only did our baked goods table sell out and our clothes pin game prove to be a challenge at Peanut Carnival, but Matt Waugh proved that checkers aren't always on a board.

South

Everyone began the week by creating puppets. Chris Cashman made a dog for his younger brother while Jenny Romig crafted a cute teddy bear. Tuesday was Olympics Day. Kristie Barron won the jelly bean guess and Jay Coburn came in first for the obstacle course. Diane Aikman and Holly Grabowski were first in the lico-rice-eating contest. Wednesday was also great. South hosted Peanut Carnival. There were many games and food booths. Everyone had a good time. Thursday was a little bit of a slower pace. Many kids rode to Scoops Ice Cream for a refreshing treat while others enjoyed playing Red Rover, Indian Chief gym games and nature walks. Friday was full of fun. Some ventured to Pumps Pond for a swim and games while the cookout was a great success at South.

West Elementary

Monday got off to a great start with the making of potholders and gimp. Although a beginner, Angie Roux made a wonderful bracelet with the famous box stitch. Tuesday was the day for kickball with Chris Lane, David Messina, Amy Wilkins and Matt Abernathy as stars. The Peanut Carnival was held on Wednesday. Among the many winners were Jeremy Roux and Tim Campbell. West sold lemonade, a great success. Thursday was an exciting game of barnyard holler with Mark Selvitelli, Amy Ferri and Steve Pero. The famous cookout was held on Friday with an exciting talent show with all West playgrounders.

Summer, Parents and Adolescence

By Michael A. Finkle, Ph.D.

Summer is a transition time for some people, especially for families who have school-aged children. The change from being in school to being out of school sometimes puts stress on children and their parents. For parents of adolescents, summer can be "open season" for confrontations when your teenage children want more freedom than you are ready to give them. Confrontations and power struggles often relate to issues such as curfew time, where the adolescent is allowed to go and generally, what is permissible behavior.

I have found that the key to maintaining peace in a household is learning how to avoid power struggles between parent and child. This is easier said than done, especially when there is a major difference of opinion about "who is right." The tragedy of power struggles is that who is right supersedes the more important issue, which is what is the right thing to do.

To avoid power struggles, parents and adolescents need to establish an atmosphere of mutual trust. The skeptical parent might ask, how can I trust my teenager who is constantly opposing me? This parent's dilemma is that a pattern of opposition has developed in which neither party is inclined to make a peace offering to the other. In such parent-child relationships, little trust can develop until "the war" ends.

I suggest that the parent should consider initiating the peace offering as a step toward ending the war. There are several reasons why I think parents are more effective than the adolescent in this initiative: 1. Realistically, in an atmosphere of opposition, it is unlikely that an adolescent even wants to earn his/her parent's trust or make compromises. Therefore, parents have less to lose than their adolescent children since the latter may be strongly invested in saving face. 2. Hopefully, the parent possesses greater maturity (through years of experience) and can tolerate the more vulnerable role of peace offerer better than the adolescent. 3. Initiating a reasonable compromise is a good adult role-model.

One general suggestion for a parent's peace initiative is to communicate a willingness to negotiate and compromise on issues. This does not mean a sell-out to the adolescent's wants, rather a genuine parental consideration for the teenager's requests in a give-and-take discussion. If parents feel that certain requests cannot be granted, effort should be made to identify alternative requests that can be granted. When the seeds of trust are established and adolescents perceive that you, as parents, care about their requests, then the power struggle tends to disappear.

DASA Wins Settlement

DASA Corp., 15 Stevens St., has won an out-of-court $25.5 million settlement in an anti-trust suit against AT & T, half of what they sued for. To finance the lawsuit the Andover company used an innovative financing method that enabled them to pursue the telecommunications giant in court and keep their business alive.

DASA sued AT & T back in July of last year charging that AT & T used restrictive practices that were responsible for making DASA lose money. The two settled the suit, which originally claimed $52 million in damages for DASA, on July 6, after a five-day period of "intense negotiations," said Curt W. Martha, vice-president at DASA.

Martha said DASA settled on the advice of their Philadelphia attorneys. The suit was still in the discovery stages, he said, and at that rate would not reach court until next July.

"We could have followed an extended and circuitous journey through the judicial process," said Martha. "But that would have meant an uncertain and prolonged risk. Our attorneys strongly urged that we accept the settlement even though they would be in a position to enjoy a higher reward if we had not."

By accepting about half of what they originally sued for Martha still says he thinks DASA recouped its losses.

"I think we have done the best we could under the circumstances," he said.

AT & T public relations manager John Geoghegan, told THE TOWNSMAN that AT & T was pleased that the case was settled. He said the basis of the suit represented a situation that no longer exists at AT & T. Goeghegan said that AT & T thought it better to settle the suit and save the costs involved in going to court and possibly losing.

The creation of a limited partnership called Automatic Dialers Partners Limited was the only way DASA could afford the lawsuit and survive. It was the brainchild of DASA President William Sherrill, of North Andover, who Martha praised as an innovative and highly creative businessman.

The limited partnership paid for the "out-of-pocket" expenses involved in the suit including research, the taking of depositions and travel that Martha estimated would cost about a half million dollars. The small group of investors, who Martha said he could not reveal, also financed DASA's ongoing research and design of new products.

In return for financially boosting the company during the lawsuit the investors will receive a minor percentage of the settlement and a percentage of the royalties on the sale of the products whose research they funded.

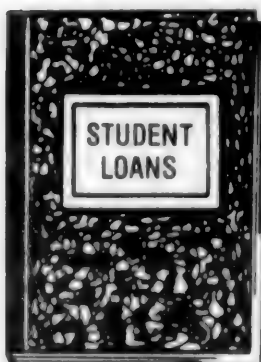

Specifically, the suit, based on the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, charged that from the mid 1960's through 1971 a device called Magicall, which was made by DASA and marketed by Bell Laboratories, never needed an automatic coupling device to make it compatible with other telephone systems. When DASA started to sell the Magicall directly to users without marketing help from Bell they were told this coupler was needed to make the product work. The problem was the coupler was expensive and limited the sale of Magicall.

DASA, which has been in town since 1965, stopped making Magicall in 1973. The older device was succeeded by the C2000, a desktop electronic flash dialer which stores information such as telephone numbers, addresses and credit information. Martha likened the DASA micro computer to an electronic Rolodex. With a storage capacity of 400 entries the C2000 is compatible with all types of telephone systems including MCI and Sprint, he said. It retails for $995.

Funeral Director Still Wants Original Elm Street Location

By Susan Rand

He's been all around town looking to buy properly zoned land, said John Caron, but Tuesday night he told the Planning Board he was right back where he started. The North Andover funeral director still wants to put a funeral home in property at 42-44 Elm Street which is now located in a residential area.

With the possibility of a fall Special Town Meeting, tentatively set for Monday, Nov. 19 by the Board of Selectmen, Caron approached the planners at their meeting this week looking for support for any of three proposals he hopes to bring before voters.

He lost his bid to rezone the Elm Street property at April's Town Meeting, winning a majority of the votes, but not the two thirds vote needed to change the Single Residence A property to General Business. Caron is considering a number of ways to bring his proposal before voters this fall, if the special meeting is held, or at the regular Town Meeting this spring.

The Elm Street property Caron hopes to buy is owned by Dennis Doherty of Andover.

In order to appear before voters with the same proposal, Caron must have the support of the planners because a town regulation keeps defeated Town Meeting articles from reappearing for two years without support from a town committee. Tuesday, Planning Chairman Margaret M. Bradshaw told Caron that her opinion of his project hadn't changed, the rezoning effort was still "spot zoning," she said, making the proposed business parcel an island in a sea of residential land.

Caron also said he was considering a rezoning article that would change the residential land to Industrial G, instead of General Business. Because this would be considered a new proposal it could be brought before Town Meeting voters without Planning Board approval. Under Andover's zoning bylaws funeral homes are allowed in Industrial G land. But rezoning 42-44 Elm Street to Industrial G would also be considered spot zoning, said Bradshaw. Further it would create an industrial parcel of land far away from any other industrial section. The closest industrial land is at the end of Essex Street or behind the police station, off North Main Street, said Nancy Jeton, principal planner in the Community Development and Planning office.

Jeton said that because the Elm Street property, which is on the corner of Elm and Maple Court, is just 206 feet from General Business-zoned property that extends from Elm Street onto Main Street, Caron would be more in keeping with the neighborhood if he stayed with his proposal to change the land to General Business.

"He is on the edge of General Business land," Jeton explained. "It is 'semi' in keeping with the neighborhood. Industrial G is really spot zoning."

Jeton said an even better proposal would be for Caron to try to rezone all of Elm Street from the Gurry Agency, at 28 Elm St., to 42-44 Elm St., where he hopes to put the funeral home, thereby extending the business district instead of spot zoning a parcel nearby. Caron disapproved of this idea, saying people owning homes between Gurry's and 42-44 Elm St., would fight the change.

Instead, switching to his third proposal, Caron asked Bradshaw how soon the planners were going to discuss extending the central business district (CBD). Bradshaw said the board wasn't sure CBD extension would be suggested by the planners, in any case, it would not be brought up in time to be discussed at a fall Town Meeting, she said. Instead the planners are discussing solutions to the town's parking problem, said Bradshaw.

"I have looked at every possible space within the business district but there are no proper funeral home facilities with parking," Caron told the board.

"I have all the parking I need in this proposal now."

Hope To Fill Bancroft Post By September

School administrators hope a new principal will be hired to fill the vacancy at the Bancroft School by the time classes begin in September.

The position was vacated when former Bancroft principal Lois T. Haslam became the assistant superintendent for elementary education in early June. She had been in charge at Bancroft from June of 1980 through this January when she was tapped to become the acting assistant for the elementary schools. Eugene Frulla took over for Haslam at Bancroft when she left the job for the acting post.

Now advertisements have been secured in the usual places the schools announce an opening, said Haslam, including the Boston Globe, the Lawrence Eagle Tribune and education journals.

Haslam said those interested in the job must submit an application by Wednesday, August 15. An interviewing committee, not yet formed, will screen the applications and conduct preliminary interviews, she said. Final interviews with a pared down list of candidates will be conducted by Kenneth W. Seifert, superintendent of schools, and possibly by the School Committee.

A procedure for hiring the new administrator has not yet been established, said Donald W. Robb, committee chairman. Robb explained that the committee usually has a recommendation from Seifert and under Massachusetts law must make the actual appointment of the principal. But, he said, the committee may choose to interview final candidates as they did when they hired the last new school principal five years ago when Mary Athey Jennings assumed the job at Andover High School. Robb said he would talk with Seifert and the committee before the final selection process was finalized.

Making It Official

Antonio Mendoza displays official proclamation naming him Andover postmaster. The presentation was made Tuesday afternoon by Diafe Regan from the U.S. Postal Service sectional center in Woburn.

Peanut Carnival

The playgrounds held their annual summer event, a Peanut Carnival with 150 youngsters attending. This is considered the big event for the summer because all seven town playgrounds work to make the carnival a success. A variety of games were set up inside and out offering bags of peanuts as prizes. Photos clockwise from upper left: Eight-year-old Ingrid Noyer of Pepperidge Circle has a clown's face painted on by Sharon French, a supervisor from the Bancroft Playground; seven-year-old Matthew Walsh of Highland Road lines up his shot; John Shaughnessy, seven, of Osgood St. tosses the water ball through the hoop; Four-year-old Aimee Ferry gets a ride from her ten-year-old brother Adam. They live on Old School House Road; Maura Collins, 10, shares her peanuts with her six-year-old sister Erin; Seven year-old Stephen Carter of Main Street concentrates on his foul shot; Kathy Bailey, 11, of River Road, her twin sister, Jennifer, and Christine Noyer, 10, of Pepperidge Circle show off their new faces for the day; Erin Westaway, 19 months, stays close to her mother, Deborah Westaway of Larchmont Circle, as she gets an understanding of what is going on around her.

Townsmen Photos By Carl Russo

An Important Decision

The resignation of Jonathan Gilmore as director of community development and planning will leave the town manager and selectmen with a rather important decision.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahoney has indicated that he is unsure of the future of the position, and in any case, will make no decision until later this year.

Frankly, while the department has been fraught with difficulty and controversy from its inception, it is an important arm of Andover's municipal operation, charged as it is with overseeing the orderly growth of the town. And, while one is never enamored with the thought of additional administrators and personnel, this position seems a necessary one.

When the department was created under the direction of former Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark, it was designed to produce an orderly control over the town's planning and development process. It would systematize and smooth the issuance of permits, which once was a time-consuming process.

The concept was good, but its development was a little difficult, caused by the human factor. Where once each department maintained its fiefdom, now there was a director overseeing all operations and the various departments responsible for development of the town were compelled to be beholden to the director.

As could be expected, one might suppose, petty jealousies developed, and the department which was designed to resolve a number of problems, was found, in some cases, to have created more.

Time, however, altered the course of events within the department and it ultimately began to function as originally intended.

There is little doubt that there still remains some of the problems caused by the human factor and feeling becoming involved in municipal operations.

But, because these problems exist, is no reason to realign the department, particularly at a time when Andover continues to face the problems of continued growth, both residential and industrial.

Development of the master plan, in the works for over a year, continues to hamper the planning process by delay in its completion.

A dedicated planning board continues to wrestle with new problems presented by developers who would build on every inch of available land in Andover, if not properly controlled.

Continued development within the central business district, as well as looking at possible extensions of industrial and commercial operations in outlying areas of the community, will still need to be addressed.

To facilitate all this requires the services of a professional planner, not just to assist the planning board members, who are volunteers, but to oversee and aid the various boards, commissions and department heads now operating under the umbrella of the community planning and development department.

There may be a need to examine the overall operation and smooth out some areas within the department.

But, there would appear to be an obvious need to continue the agency as it currently exists for the most part and to have a professional person at the helm.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — July 1909

Harry Chadwick and two companions caught a large string of fish in the Shawsheen River last week and report the fishing very good.

Another petty robbery took place in town last Sunday night or early Monday morning when an entrance was made at B.B. Tuttle's stable on Bartlet street and a harness, valued at thirty five dollars, was stolen. Scott Shattuck and Frank M. Smith traced the robber for some distance and found a bridle which had been dropped in some bushes a short distance from the barn.

The heavy shower of a week ago has added further havoc to the already wretched streets of the town. We have a letter from a well-known citizen this week who urges us to voice a vigorous protest against the condition of the highway. We would advise our good friend that this is absolutely useless. Today one needs to take but a ride in any direction, save to Lawrence, to be ashamed of the backward steps we have taken in comparison with the progress made by our neighboring towns.

On July 5th there was celebrated in Brechin, Scotland, the 50th anniversary of the Andover school, an institution founded by John Smith of this town.

50 Years Ago — July 1934

Miss Katherine Sullivan of Elm Street, who is connected for the summer with the National Little Theatre Guild, Lake Shore Division, at Westford, participated in a program over the radio Monday night. The New England premiere of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's "Enchanted Cottage" with a cast of 50 persons, was presented by the Players at Westford on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week, making the third successful week of the Lake Shore Theatre, a division of the National Little Theatre Guild.

Andover residents have shown during the past week especial interest in the Merrimack Valley Art Association exhibit at the Addison Gallery of American Art, principally because some of the best offerings were done by local people. It would be no stretch of the truth to say that the "Portrait of Mrs. Spencer" by Frances Dalton is the best of the several portraits in the group. Miss Dalton's work has always attracted considerable attention, and this particular oil will certainly enhance her prestige with local art lovers.

A youthful Jesse James with a very decrepit looking bicycle effected a bicycle holdup in Ballardvale Monday afternoon, leaving Arnold Schofield, 9, with the more or less wrecked bike and running off with a brand new girl's Imperial bicycle owned by Arnold's aunt, Miss Mildred Buck.

An emergency mail campaign will be conducted here, and throughout Essex County, during the middle two weeks of August so that polio patients may continue to receive substantial financial assistance from the local Chapter of the National Foundation. Assuming none of the local persons afflicted with polio have to be hospitalized, Evelyn Harrison, corresponding secretary of the Foundation, said at least $4,000 is needed in Andover for the balance of the year.

The first serious accident on Route 93 in West Andover occurred Tuesday afternoon, when an oil truck tipped over in the dividing strip. Driver Bill Wooles crawled out with only a cut arm. The truck flipped and landed with all four wheels in the air. Some 900 gallons of diesel fuel and kerosene spilled. The vehicle was hauling fuel to construction trucks along the highway. The Fire Department stood by for over five hours, in case the spilled fuel ignited.

Building permits have not yet been taken out for proposed new stores at the Shawsheen Plaza on North Main Street. Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall said permits have been obtained for foundations only, but he anticipates that the other permits will be registered very soon. Signs at the Plaza indicate that a Grants, Woolworths, and a Liggett's drug store will occupy three units.

Kindergartners may be exempt from homework, but Andover youngsters in grades one through 12 will be doing the chore beginning this fall, anywhere from 30 minutes a week to three hours a day. The Andover School Committee Tuesday night passed a homework policy that has been in the works for nigh onto three months. John Lyons, the homework policy's sponsor, admitted Tuesday that the new policy will have some problems and bugs, but emphasized that despite an at-

Stolen Silver Recovered, Police Search For Thieves

Andover police hit the jackpot on Friday, July 13, when they raided an unnamed location and seized approximately $12,000 worth of stolen silver, most of it sterling. The police still have about one-fourth of the stolen silver cache at the station waiting to be claimed by the owners.

Police theorize the silver thieves, they suspect three, have passed some of the antique silver as far up the coast as Maine, where it won't be recognized, to sell. They also suspect the thieves planned to melt down some of the silver and sell it according to weight, said Andover Detective Kevin Winters, who along with Detectives David Grant and John Bernhardt and Sgt. John Houlihan have been working to crack the silver ring for about six weeks.

Winters said police staked out a building on a tip and found the silver and other items, also presumed stolen. He declined to identify the location of the find because the department is searching for two persons they believe are involved in the silver thefts.

One of the persons allegedly linked to the silver ring was arrested by Andover police on June 26. Scott Wright, who lists his home as 303 Prospect St., Lawrence, and is charged with 11 counts of breaking and entering in the night and intent to commit a felony as well as 11 counts of larceny in Andover, is being held at the Lawrence House of Corrections on $10,000 cash bail. Wright was arrested on a warrant from the Boston Police Department.

The other two suspects, who have alluded police to date, are Raymond and Brian Jalbert. They list Lawrence as their homes, but haven't been there lately.

Houlihan told THE TOWNSMAN that the word was out the Andover Police have warrants on the Jalbert brothers. "They know we are on their trail," he said. "We haven't had a lot of luck."

Winters said that although locating the Jalberts may be difficult. He knows they are familiar with the New Hampshire towns of Nashua, Hudson and Hampton Beach, where local police departments have been alerted to watch for them. Winters said he thought the three suspected thieves operated within a 30-mile radius of Andover.

The three persons suspected of the silver thefts aren't amateurs at what they do, said Winters. He said that the thieves who knew what they were looking for when they stole the silver.

"This is not an operation of just going in (into a home) and getting lucky," he said.

Winters said police theorize the thieves may have used stolen cars in the silver operation. He also said one suspect was believed to have put stolen plates on a car that was used. In another instance the thieves came into town in a taxi and probably left on foot, said Winters.

Most of the silver being held at the Andover Police station is sterling flatware, trays and silver bowls, said Winters.

A number of Andover residents have already recovered silver netted in the raid. But Winters and Houlihan both said the officers have been strict about letting people who claim they may be owners of the stolen goods take a look at the silver. Many are turned away when they cannot describe the silver they have lost, said Houlihan. And when the officers believe someone is describing a piece the police may have they check the information against the police reports made at the time of that particular robbery. The best way to claim stolen silver, said Winters, is to bring a photo of the item or items, if available to the station.

Not much silver has been claimed in the last week, said Houlihan. He said many residents may be on vacation and unaware of the recovered stolen property. And, he said, that some of the silver may belong to persons living out-of-town.

Police also recovered a tool box full of tools, two cameras, a Radio Shack computer terminal, a cordless telephone and some jewelry that Winters said was not worth a lot of money according to a jeweler who looked it over

Car Windows

Open car windows are an open invitation to thieves.

That's the word from the Insurance Information Institute which notes that an estimated one million cars were stolen in the U.S. in 1983, many of them because of open windows and doors.

Nancy Golonka, the institute's vice president for consumer affairs-education, says many of the thefts take place at shopping malls where people tend to leave the windows open on hot days so car interiors won't get overheated.

She warns that some car thieves work so fast that shoppers gone only a few minutes can return to an empty parking space.

Golonka also warns motorists never to leave children or pets unattended in a parked car. Car interiors heat up quickly in hot weather when windows are closed, increasing the risk of dehydration and suffocation.

The Andover School Committee voted Tuesday night to reduce its number of hired buses from 27 to 25 for the coming year, by adding a few double trips to existing routes. The move isn't expected to cause many hardships to the youngsters. In fact, says Assistant Business Manager Sam Arcidy, it will make things a bit more equitable by putting more West Elementary School youngsters on double trips, just as youngsters are in many of the other schools.

To estimate refrigeration requirements, allow eight to ten feet of refrigerator capacity for the first two adults in a household. Then, add one cubic foot for each additional person. A family of four, then, would need a refrigerator with a capacity of ten to twelve cubic feet. Another guideline for a reliable estimate freezer requirement, suggests that you multiply the number of people in the household by two and one half. The same family of four should then own a freezer of about ten cubic feet. In this case, however, the freezer capacity of the refrigerator should be subtracted from the total freezer estimate. If your refrigerator has a two cubic foot freezer capacity, you would do well with a compact eight cubic foot freezer.

If your family is growing and you need a larger refrigerator you may not have enough space available to install it. As a result you may have to rearrange some appliances or alter some cabinets. The experienced staff at WINDSOR KITCHENS will know just what it takes to make your kitchen more efficient. We might have to take away a cabinet or two to make room for your new refrigerator, but we can replace them with others that take less room and are more versatile. Andover Team In Finals

By Rick Harrison

For the first time in close to a decade, the Andover American Little League All-Stars have battled to the championship round of the annual District 14 Tournament.

The talented locals reached the finals of the tourney, which becomes double-elimination after quarterfinal activity, with a series of exciting victories last week.

Following an opening 9-0 triumph over Haverhill, which featured a no-hitter by lefthander Chris Eggert and was documented on these pages last week, Andover American proceeded to edge Chelmsford Fitts (3-1), Tewksbury American (3-2) and Tewksbury National (5-4).

That left Andover as the only unbeaten team up to that point and they waited until Tewksbury American fought its way out of the loser's bracket and into the championship round.

Tewksbury American then handed Andover American its first loss last Sunday at the Chelmsford Fitts field, 5-4, fighting off a determined comeback bid by the locals in the late innings.

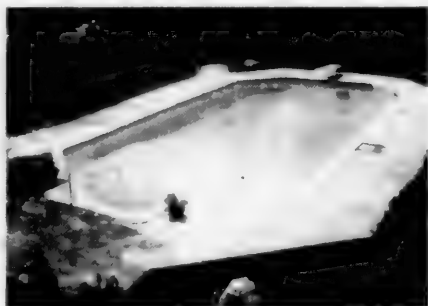

That left both clubs with one loss, forcing a winner-take-all championship showdown this past Tuesday (after TOWNSMAN presstime) in Chelmsford. The survivor of the Tuesday night game, which saw Eggert chasing his third tournament victory on the mound for Andover American, proceeds to Bi-District play this Saturday at a time and site to be announced tomorrow.

Other levels of competition in the international tournament are state and regional with the eight best teams in the world moving to Williamsport, Penna., for the legendary Little League World Series at Lamothe Park in late August.

That annual extravaganza, dominated in recent years by Taiwan, draws crowds of 30,000 with the title game televised on "Wide World of Sports."

Andover American, 3-1

Manager Paul Shaake's Andover crew rode the combined pitching efforts of righthanders Keith Abernathy and Chris Lane (both members of the Town Champion Twins) to its 3-1 second-round decision over Chelmsford Fitts.

Abernathy worked five strong innings of one-hit ball, walking six and striking out eight. He had a no-hitter in progress until Andy Lynch rapped a fifth-inning double.

Two of the free passes came at the start of the sixth (and final) inning, prompting Shaake and Coach Joe Iarrobino to insert Lane.

He got the first out with some assistance from leftfielder Mike Tiberii, who stabbed a liner to rob Chelmsford of a basehit. Mike Flanagan then spanked an RBI single for the lone Fitts' run, but Lane bore down to strike out the next two batters and preserve the victory. Johnson was the complete-game losing pitcher for Chelmsford, allowing six hits, walking four and whiffing four.

Andover American did all its damage in the first two innings, jumping to a 3-0 lead.

Joe Iarrobino Jr. led off the first stanza with a perfect bunt single, Chris Lane rifled a crisp double, Chris Eggert drew a walk and Pete Kannam spiked a two-run single down the rightfield line. The insurance run came in the second when Brett Hammond reached on an error, Paul Lembo doubled and Hammond raced across on Iarrobino's infield out.

That set the stage for the climactic sixth, Abernathy walking Craig Manzi and Mike Mullett before Lane came on to shut the door. Iarrobino finished the contest 2-for-3, Abernathy doubled and Dave Sopp chipped in a single.

Andover American, 3-2

The first meeting with archrival Tewksbury American was highlighted by another virtuoso performance from lefty Chris Eggert. On the mound he didn't quite equal the perfection of the Haverhill contest, but he wasn't too far off with a five-hitter, eight strikeouts and just three walks.

At the plate he keyed a pivotal three-run third with a mammoth homerun, his first of the tournament after 13 during regular season play (including five in five straight atbats during one stretch).

Keith Abernathy and Pete Kannam followed with singles and Brett Hammond produced the eventual game-winning safety with a two-run double.

Tewksbury American came back with single runs in the fourth and sixth on bases-empty homers, but it wasn't quite enough. They threatened in the top of the sixth with a one-out single and walk, but Eggert bore down to end the game on a flyball to centerfield and a strikeout.

Kannam finished the quarterfinal round contest 2-for-2, while Chris Lane and Paul Lembo contributed singles to the attack. Defensive standouts were shortstop Iarrobino and first baseman Hammond.

Andover American, 5-4

The locals spotted Tewksbury National a 4-1 lead midway through the fourth inning of their semifinal round tilt, but Andover American rallied for two runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth to move to the championship round undefeated.

The winners managed just three singles in the contest, but took advantage of nine walks, several errors and some heads-up baserunning.

Lefthander Brian Yergation was the winning pitcher in relief, tossing three frames of strong shutout baseball after replacing starter Keith Abernathy. The pair combined for a six-hitter, Yergation walking two and whiffing four while Abernathy issued four free passes and whiffed four.

Andover inched ahead 1-0 in the bottom of the first, Chris Eggert beating out a bunt with two down, Abernathy following with a single and

Andover Gold Bows In Playoffs

By Rick Harrison

Regular-season league champion Andover Gold faltered in the double-elimination Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League round-robin play-off tournament, bowing out in the semifinal round after dropping a pair of close games to regular-season runner-up South Lawrence West. Gold, which finished the league campaign with a 15-4 record, dropped a 6-4 decision to SLW in its post-season opener.

AG then nipped Andover Blue 3-2 to remain alive, but squandered a 5-0 fifth-inning advantage in a 6-5 loss to South Lawrence West during its third playoff outing.

It marked the second straight summer that Gold, which has won three regular-season titles and two playoff crowns in the last four years, has been ousted from the tourney in the semifinal round.

SLW, 6-4

Gold, which had trouble keeping a lead throughout the playoffs, out-hit South Lawrence West 10-4 but still managed to lose its opener at Mt. Vernon Park.

AG was protecting a 3-1 edge midway through the third inning, but West battled back with four runs in the bottom of the third before adding an insurance tally in the fifth.

Previously-undefeated righthander Larry Aiello (5-0) was the hard-luck loser, tossing a four-hitter, walking four and whiffing five.

Winning pitcher Bill Blackwell struggled throughout, permitting the 10 hits but also wiggling out of several serious jams. Gold left the bases loaded twice and stranded men in the game.

SLW moved ahead 1-0 in the first when Bill Buckley walked, stole second and raced across on Dan Cardillo's two-out double. Cardillo was subsequently cut down at third base on a fine relay from centerfielder Rick Lafond to short-stop Chris Colsia to third baseman Chris Concerni.

Gold collected two runs in the second on a two-out walk to Aiello, a single by Chris Nelson and a long two-run double by Concerni.

The locals added an unearned run in the top of the third as Mark Tucker doubled to leftfield, Colsia walked, Earl Abdo singled to load the bases and Mike Lane's hard grounder to third was misplayed.

SLW retaliated with four runs in the home half, walks to Bob St. Louis and Blackwell starting the uprising. Buckley then reached on a two-base error with St. Louis scoring and Blackwell motoring to third. Kevin Dolan followed with a long two-run triple to right-centerfield and Bill McGovern's infield out rescued him.

West made it 6-3 in the fifth on a one-out double by Buckley and a single by Cardillo. Buckley was apparently nailed at the plate on a fine throw from Lafond, but in the ensuing collision the ball was knocked from the catcher's glove.

Gold threatened in virtually every inning against Blackwell.

In the fourth Lafond rifled a two-out single and Tucker was hit by a pitch, but Colsia's sharp grounder to the box was stabbed by Blackwell. In the sixth Concerni slapped a one-out single, Lafond laced a two-out single and Kurt Burzlaff walked to load the bases. A sharp grounder to second base gain allowed Blackwell to escape.

Abdo opened the gold seventh with a crisp double to leftfield and Chris Nelson kept the locals' hopes flickering with a two-out RBI single. However, Blackwell retired the final batter on a grounder to third.

Abdo led the 10-hit attack with 3-for-4 while Lafond, Nelson and Concerni were all 2-for-4.

Gold also came through with a few defensive gems, Burzlaff making a nice running catch in leftfield and catcher Abdo pouncing on a Blackwell-bunt to gun down the fleet-footed lefty in the fifth.

Andover Gold, 3-2

Gold eliminated Andover Blue from the playoffs with this tough triumph at Andover East, notching three first-inning runs off righty Glenn Allard and then holding on for the victory.

Chris Colsia (6-1) went the distance for the winners, permitting seven hits, walking two and whiffing four.

He was the recipient of some outstanding defensive support, key run-saving catches made by outfielders Chris Nelson and Kurt Burzlaff to preserve the win.

Gold, which again left 10 runners aboard, batted around in the top of the first but also left the bases loaded.

The first run came when leadoff batter Rick Lafond singled, moved to second on a passed ball, took third on Mark Tucker's perfect sacrifice bunt and scored when Colsia grounded out to second base.

Earl Abdoo then walked, Chris Nelson singled to leftfield, Chris Concemi was hit by a pitch and Larry Aiello lashed a two-run single to rightfield for the eventual winning runs.

Kurt Burzlaff was also hit by a pitch to reload the bases, but Allard bore down to fan the next hitter.

Gold left the bases jammed again in the fourth after a single by Lafond, a third hit batsman (Tucker) and another walk to Abdoo. Allard retired the next man on a grounder to shortstop Jeff Smith.

Colsia breezed through the first four frames, permitting only a single by Dave Curtis and a walk to Cam Deery.

However, in the fifth Steve Surette and Curtis spanked consecutive singles. Bill O'Brien bunted them along and then singles by Tom Tormey and Peter Barry rescued the two runs to make it 3-2.

Tormey and Barry moved to second and third on Smith's infield out and then Deery smashed a long drive that Burzlaff flagged down on the run in left-centerfield to end the inning.

Blue almost pulled it out in the seventh, one-out singles by Tormey and Barry putting men at first and third.

Gold catcher Lafond then alertly grabbed a foul bunt attempt for the second out and the game ended when the dangerous Deery screamed another liner to left-centerfield that Chris Nelson caught in full stride.

Lafond and Aiello both went 2-for-4 to spark AG while Mark Tucker also made a superb diving catch at first base to rob Peter Barry of a possible infield hit in the third.

Curtis, Barry and Tormey rifled two hits apiece for the Blue while Deery was a very loud 4-for-3.

Smith played a strong defensive game at short for the Blue as did third baseman Deery who made a nice grab of a foul pop over his shoulder.

SLW, 6-5

Nemesis South Lawrence West, knocked from the playoffs by Gold last year, returned the favor by rallying for six runs in the final three innings to hand AG its first loss at Phillips Academy this season (8-1) and only its third setback at that field over the last two years.

West appeared beaten in the top of the seventh, trailing 5-3 with the bottom third of its order at bat. But the visitors came through with a clutch three-run outburst to win the game.

Larry Aiello (5-2) took the loss in relief of starter Earl Abdoo, the latter pitching four strong innings before tiring in the fifth.

Gold touched Bill Blackwell, coming back with just two days rest, for a single run in the bottom of the third. Rick Lafond walked, stole second, took third on Chris Colsia's single and raced across on a wild pitch. The regular-season champs appeared in good shape following a four-run fourth inning. Mike Lane dumped a single to leftfield and continued to second base on a throwing error. Lafond beat out an infield hit, Lane taking third and then Lafond stole second.

This set the stage for 13-year-old pinch-hitter Tom Murray, who ripped a two strike, two-run single to right-centerfield. Colsia followed with an RBI single to make it 4-0 and Abdoo belted a run-producing double down the rightfield line for a seemingly-comfortable 5-0 Gold cushion.

Abdoo, making just his second starting appearance of the season, had allowed only one harmless single over the first four frames. But Bill McGovern opened the fifth with a single, Bob St. Louis walked and a throwing error after Kevin Drouin's single allowed two runs to cross. Aiello replaced Abdoo on the mound and retired Blackwell on a pop to short. Bill Buckley then lofted a fly to leftfield that was misjudged for an RBI double, cutting the Gold advantage to 5-3.

Blackwell became stronger as the game progressed, facing only nine batters over the final three innings. The only runner he allowed was Kurt Burzlaff on a sixth-inning walk, but he was doubled off first base after leftfielder St. Louis made a fine running catch of Lafond's long fly-ball.

The fatal seventh, which came after Aiello had retired SLW 1-2-3 in the sixth, started with a walk to Dan Bergeron. Drouin followed with another opposite-field single and Blackwell drew a one-out walk to load the bases. Buckley rolled a grounder towards second base and when the ball kicked off the fielder's glove, Bergeron and Drouin raced home to tie the game 5-5.

Kevin Dolan then laced a liner to centerfield, Burzlaff making the catch knee-high. Blackwell tagged at third and came home with the winning run, a Gold appeal that he had left the base early being denied by the umpire. AG went down 1-2-3 in the bottom of the seventh. The count ran to 3-2 on Abdoo before he skied to centerfield and Nelson hit the ball solidly to leftfield where St. Louis made the grab to end the game.

Colsia led the seven-hit offense with a pair of singles while Chris Concemi contributed a double.

SLW managed seven hits with Buckley and Drouin spanking two each.

Lafond played an outstanding defensive game at catcher for Gold, Colsia was sharpstop and Mike Lane made some excellent stretches at first base.

Chris Eggert launched the Andover American rally with a two-strike, three-homer over the left-centerfield fence in the bottom of the fourth. Hammond launched a solo shot in the last of the sixth, but Bedard bore down to whiff the last two Andover batters and preserve the triumph.

Keith Krush slapped a pair of singles for Tewksbury American, 5-1 in the tourney, while Rob Carney chased home a run with a bunt single and Derek Hartquist laid down a perfectly-executed safety-squeeze bunt to rescue another run.

Make yourself an honest man and then you may be sure there is one less rascal in the world.

Pete Kannam reaching on an error that plated Eggert.

Two walks, an error and an RBI single enabled Tewksbury National to tie it 1-1 in the second and move ahead 2-1 in the third on a bases-loaded walk.

In the fourth B.J. Doherty singled and losing pitcher Paul Botto belted a two-run homer to centerfield, boosting the Tewksbury National cushion to 4-1.

Andover American registered its final four runs without benefit of a basehit. In the fourth walks to Yergation, Joe Iarrobino and Eggert loaded the bases with one out. Yergation aced home on a wild pitch and then Abernathy made it 4-3 by lofting a sacrifice fly to centerfield.

In the fifth Brett Hammond and Mike LeBreck walked with Kurt Brucato inserted as a pinch-runner for LeBreck. Iarrobino followed with a routine grounder to second base, but Brucato knocked the ball from the fielder's glove as he passed with Hammond scoring and Brucato moving to third. Brucato scored the winning run moments later on the money end of a perfect executed delayed double steal.

Tewksbury National produced several anxious moments in the top of the sixth. Shawn Wilson singled and Dave Boudreau drew a two-out walk, but Yergation induced the final batter to pop out to Eggert at first. Abernathy went 2-for-2 and Eggert legged out the bunt for the only Andover American safeties.

Defensive standouts were Iarrobino at short-stop and Kannam in centerfield.

Tewksbury American, 5-4

Tewksbury American withstood a late-inning comeback by previously-undefeated Andover American to chalk up its 5-4 victory and push the District 14 Little League 11-12 year old All-Star Tournament to a winner-take-all championship final.

They then battled for the District 14 crown and

Andover Senior League All-Stars Complete Play

Andover Senior League's American All-Star team reached the quarter-finals and double elimination bracket in tournament play during the week of July 9. The locals defeated Tewksbury 7-4 on July 11, lost a wild affair to Billerica-National 15-13 on July 14, and were finally eliminated by Billerica-American 14-4 on July 15. The team was comprised of Mark Hashem, Gerald Nassif, James Regan, Jack Sweeney, Jeff McNeil, Michael DiMeo, Matt Shine, Frank Tammaro, Paul Gilmartin, Mark Berberian, Jeff Kittleson, Michael Moriarty, Joel Flaherty, Chris Poor, and alternates, John Slavin and Mike Giammasi.

In the Tewksbury game, played at Tewksbury, strong pitching by Mark Hashem and flawless defense produced a 7-4 victory. While held to a pair of singles by Poor and Hashem, Andover's patience at the plate (resulting in 11 walks), combined with the two timely hits and aggressive base running (seven steals) produced the seven runs. After Tewksbury took the lead 1-0 in the top of the first inning, Andover scored three runs to take the lead 3-1 and never looked back, pushing its lead to 5-1 after the second, 6-4 after four and adding an insurance run in the fifth. Defensive standouts were DiMeo behind the plate, Shine at first, Nassif in rightfield and Poor at shortstop.

At Billerica, Andover jumped to a 2-0 lead over Billerica-National after one inning as Regan and DiMeo reached on errors and scored on back-to-back singles by Nassif and Shine. Billerica came back with a homerun in the second to make it 2-1, then took a 3-2 lead in the third on combination of three Andover errors and three singles. Billerica extended its lead to 7-2 in the fourth inning on three singles, a walk and two more errors and Andover scored one run on a walk to Regan who scored on a double by DiMeo, but threat ended as Poor flied deep to right. Billerica scored seven runs in the top of the fifth while sending 11 batters to the plate. Four stolen bases, two errors, two walks and three hits did the damage. Andover regrouped to score three in its half on three straight walks and a bases-clearing double by Tammaro. Solid relief pitching by Tammaro held Billerica to a single run in the sixth and seventh innings and set the stage for an exciting finish. Trailing 15-6, Andover scored three in the sixth on walks to DiMeo, Poor and Hashem, a sharp single by Shine and a fielder's choice to Sweeney. In the seventh, Kittleson, DiMeo, Poor and Hashem wrapped successive singles to score two runs. Poor scored the third run on a fielder's choice to Nassif and Hashem came in with the fourth run on a balk, making the score 15-13. Shine then worked the count to 3-and-2, fouling off seven pitches before walking. Flaherty, representing the tying run, was then hit by a pitch. With two outs, Tammaro then battled the Billerica pitcher to a full count before flying out to end the game. This wild affair, while not a classic defensive struggle, turned into a fine ballgame despite the oppressive heat, demonstrating Andover's tough come-back ability.

The final tournament appearance of Andover took place in Billerica against the Billerica-American team. Andover came up short 14-4 as Billerica's Leyne scattered seven hits, walked five and fanned seven. In contrast to the previous day's contest, this was a well-played game in which Billerica pounded out 12 hits, including a massive three-run home run in the first inning to take a 3-1 lead. Hashem pitched the first four innings, but developed a sore arm and was relieved by Sweeney. DiMeo led Andover's offense with three hits, followed by Poor with two and singles by Tammaro and Hashem. McNeil, Gilmartin, Berberian and Moriarty played well in the field.

This tournament play capped an exciting Senior League season for Andover, in which 125 young men competed in two five-team divisions.

When asked what the toughest problem was in directing construction of the world's first atomic submarine, Admiral Rickover tersely replied, "Picking good men."

Players Present 'Annie'

The award-winning Garret Players of Lawrence will present the smash Tony Award winning hit "Annie" at Giordano's Starlight Dinner Theatre July 26-August 26.

"Annie" was originally performed on Broadway in 1978 and has since enjoyed a tremendously successful run. The production, based on the comic strip "L'il Orphan Annie," was directed by Martin Chenin and starred Andrea McKardle as Annie, Dorothy Loudon as Ms. Hannigan and Reid Shelton as Daddy Warbucks. Over the years the actors have changed, but the fun and lively characters have remained the same.

The Garret Players' version of "Annie" will star Kristan Savastano of Methuen as the loveable Annie, Jean-Marie Barrile as the wretched Ms. Hannigan and Wayne J.C. Leocata of Lawrence as the soft-hearted Daddy Warbucks. The production promises to be another quality piece of family entertainment by The Garrett Players.

Seating is available for dinner with show and show only. Performances are Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. at Giordano's Route 97, George-

Audi invites you to take a closer look at three of our most amazing engineering feats. Our Prices.

4000S TWO-DOOR SPORTS SEDAN

4000S FOUR-DOOR SPORTS SEDAN

$13,240

4000S QUATTRO SPORTS SEDAN

$16,830

When you consider how well equipped each Audi 4000S is, it's quite an engineering feat that they are so affordable.

The two 4000S sports sedans, for example, are aerodynamically sleek, feature front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, advanced fuel injected 4-cylinder engines, air conditioning, cruise control and the sort of comforting ergonomic interiors you expect in German luxury sport sedans. The surprise is, the engineering and luxury is not optional.

But the biggest surprise is the 4000S Quattro. It's the car that history will record as pivotal in the evolution of the passenger car. The German engineers at Audi combined permanent all-wheel drive with independent four-wheel suspension and four-wheel disc brakes to bring the driver a keener sensation of handling, cornering and stopping performance. And the interior appointments make it possible for passengers to enjoy this new driving experience as much as the driver.

The Audi sports sedans are worth a closer look. And even better than a look, a test drive. After you've experienced Audi's amazing engineering feats for yourself, we think you'll agree, the prices are sheer genius.

Tom Manzi Dodge — We'll Play Ball With You

When the big boys won't play ball with you go to the dealership where you'll get straight talk, no high pressure sales and a fair deal: Tom Manzi Dodge on the corner of Merrimack St. and S. Broadway in Lawrence.

In business for over 30 years and growing, they have combined their experience and know-how with Chrysler's excellent cars. Chrysler has some of the best cars on the market today and they continually prove their superiority with their exciting innovations and goal to be best. First to return to the convertible and fuel-injected car, their 1985 line promises more of the same.

Watch for the sleek 1985 Dodge Lancer which will be introduced sometime in January. With European aerodynamic styling, a performance engine and transmission and plenty of leg room, it will go head to head with the expensive imports. Yet it's less expensive than other comparable European cars, has the 5 & 50 warranty (5 years or 50,000 miles) and it's American made.

Tom Manzi Dodge specializes in taking care of their customers. The fact that most of their customers are repeat customers says it all. With no high pressure sales ("we might lose some sales for it but we're a happier team") and no extravagant dealer mark-ups, Tom Manzi Dodge knows that a good repore and reputation with their customers is their best selling tool.

That's why Tom Manzi Dodge employs qualified, professional mechanics and is AAA approved.

For all your automotive needs, count on the people who not only do their job but do it right and do it the nicest way. Tom Manzi Dodge will play ball with you. Open every day 9 am - 9 pm and Sunday 9 am - 5 pm. Tel. 683-9591.

The morning of July 30 Tom Ross will start a new class on "Aging: A New Look" at 11 a.m. This is a special opportunity to share your thoughts on life, retirement, values and loneliness. The course is free and is for those who have not taken his course previously.

That afternoon is the next in the movie series, "Sword in the Stone," which starts at 1 p.m. Again, you are invited to bring well behaved grandchildren with you.

Do you have your tickets for the Hoe Down at the senior center Saturday, July 27, from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.? It is promising to be a happy and fun-filled evening featuring square dance demonstrations, line dancing and lots of good eating. And all for $6. Tomorrow, July 26, is the deadline for tickets.

There are still a few seats left on the trip to Newport, R.I., August 8. If you're interested, don't delay getting down and signing up. Mark your calendar for the afternoon of August 15 at 1 p.m. and then be sure to be at the senior center for an ice cream party. Tickets are on sale now through August 13 at the center.

There is still room on the trip to Gloucester

July 31—a real treat and only $16 for the day.

We act as though comfort and luxury were the chief requirements of life, when all that we need to make us really happy is something to be enthusiastic about.

FINANCE CLAUSE LIMITS

One of the key clauses in the agreement to purchase a home is the one concerning obtaining financing by the buyer. Contract forms usually spell out the financing details of the transaction at great length with spaces for the principal, interest rates and other loan terms. Some forms obligate the buyer to pay either a specified level of interest or, if that cannot be obtained, "the best available rate." In a rapidly changing market when rates are rising, such language may force the purchaser to pay far higher interest costs than originally expected.

You might, as the buyer, limit interest costs by agreeing to a maximum rate and stipulating that if the agreed-upon rate is not available, the agreement is void and the deposit must be returned.

A buyer must make a "good faith" effort to find the financing described in the sales agreement. But what happens if interest rates change and you no longer qualify for a loan? You can protect yourself by making the entire transaction contingent on your ability to get the financing outlined in the contract

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 5 Pynchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-3100. We're here to help.

High School Students May Operate Day Care Center

Andover High School students may be taking care of some Andover toddlers and receiving course credit for their work in the Andover High School Early Childhood Program, which may be underway this fall at the Shawsheen Road school.

About 20 youngsters, aged two years and nine months to five years old will be able to sign up for the day center—if the organizers of the program can find an agency who wants to run the center.

The program's overseers, members of a child care study group working under the auspices of the Department of Community Services, are searching for an agency to run the day care program and they have contacted all day care providers in Massachusetts who are registered with the state Office for Children in an attempt to find a group to run the program.

Renovations of the area used at Andover High will be the responsibility of the group that rents the space for the program, according to the proposal, said Andover High School Principal Mary Jennings who is also a member of the study group. She said the room to be used is a large choral room, now unused because the chorus has moved their operations to a larger room in the J. Everett Collins Center.

"This will be an advantage to the school and to the child care classes," said Jennings who said a similar program has been taking place at the high school. She said that the day care program's organizers, of which she is one, were considering the creation of a day care program for infants as well as older children because, said Jennings, "there is a real need for it in Andover."

For about five years, explained the principal, students have been taking care of two and three year olds for a nominal fee for one half a day. The only requirement of those participating was that the youngsters live in Andover, she said.

This new program follows a similar day care arrangement at the Shawsheen School's Early Childhood Center that will begin this fall for the kindergarten and readiness class students there who may sign up for what is being called the "extended care" program before or after their half-day classes. That program is being run by the DCS, separate from the school department.
